

SULZER'S ATTORNEYS LOSE THE DECISION

JUDGE A. PARKER HELD THAT STATE LAWS DEFINED WHO WERE MEMBERS OF COURT.

RULE OF HEARING MADE

Expect That Trial Will Last Week—Greatest Since Impeachment of President Johnson.

Albany, Sept. 19.—Governor Sulzer's attorneys lost the first fight in the high court of impeachment today when the four senators challenged by the defense were permitted to retain their seats.

The vote, which was on the question of the right to select the trial judge, was unanimous against the defense. The four senators directly concerned, Frawley, Wagner, Ramsperger and Sanner, did not vote.

The high court of impeachment in the case of Governor Sulzer met at ten o'clock this morning for its second session. Senator Wagner, chairman of the committee on rules, submitted the report of the committee which was adopted without objection. The rules provide for daily sessions except Saturday from 10 a. m. to 12 p. m. and from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 10 a. m. to 12 p. m. and on Friday the hour of final adjournment will be 12:30 p. m. The hours may be changed from time to time.

D. Cady Herrick, leading counsel for Governor Sulzer, argued in behalf of the challenges. He announced yesterday he would make objections to the sitting as members of court of Active Lieutenant Governor Wagner and Senators Frawley, Ramsperger and Sanner. Judge Herrick stated that the objection to Wagner was based upon the fact that he was not an active governor but is interested in the result of the trial, as in the event of the conviction of the respondent he would succeed to the dignity, profits and emoluments of the office of lieutenant governor.

Most Important. "This case," said Judge Herrick, "is the greatest since the impeachment of President Johnson. There can be no question that the senators on the Frawley committee have formed and expressed opinions on every article of impeachment."

Judge Herrick then read the articles of impeachment as adopted by the assembly declaring that the defense challenge is founded on "the right to select the trial judge by a tribunal on that it is not prejudicial in advance." He cited court opinions bearing on the absolute necessity of all the judges being uncontaminated by bias.

Every member of this high court, he said, "should be free from even a suspicion of bias in order that a fair trial may be given such fair trial as is accorded the accused criminal accused of the smallest crime."

At the completion of his argument he formally challenged the right of the four senators to sit.

As Judge Herrick contended that "you are without authority to exclude from membership of the impeachment court any member of the high court of the state," he said in the beginning that this court shall be composed of the court of appeals and the senate and you without power to say to any member, whether judge or senator, "you shall not sit in this court."

Judge Parker declared that the state constitution made no provision for a court of appeals, but that it did provide for a court of appeals. At the close of the arguments on the qualification of the senators to serve on the impeachment court the court unanimously not to consider the challenges.

SULZER'S LIEUTENANT IS SENT TO PRISON

Walked into Legislative Chamber and Was Immediately Arrested by Sergeant of Arms.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Governor Sulzer's personal friend and assistant, James J. McGowan, walked into the Albany legislative chamber last night in a cell of the Albany county penitentiary. He was returned to that institution by the sergeant at arms of the state assembly for refusing to answer questions put to him by the speaker following arrest on a charge of contempt. The charge grew out of his alleged statement several weeks ago that four legislators sold their votes on the resolutions impeaching Governor Sulzer.

To Release Garrison. Plans of the Sulzer faction today were to obtain a writ of habeas corpus from the supreme court for the release of Garrison. Majority Leader, Levy said this morning, however that such action would be impossible as the assembly had "plenary power to punish for contempt." The appellate court so held in a similar case several years ago. If the courts should hold this view Garrison might be kept in prison until next January when a new legislative convenes. The alleged offense is unavailable it is said.

Came as Climax. The arrest of Garrison came as a great surprise to many members of the legislature as it was to him. There were made several weeks ago to arrest him, but nothing was done and he made no attempt to evade service. He has been around

WILL HONOR MEMORY GOVERNOR JOHNSON

Preparations Nearly Complete for Unveiling of Monument on Fourth Anniversary of Death.

St. Peter, Minn., Sept. 19.—Preparations are nearly complete for the unveiling next Sunday of the monument to former Governor John A. Johnson, erected by public subscriptions of the memory of one of their most honored fellow citizens. The day selected for the unveiling of the handsome statue is particularly appropriate because it is the fourth anniversary of the death of Gov. Johnson.

Immediately after the death of Governor Johnson his admirers in this city started a fund for the erection of a suitable memorial in his native town. The project was temporarily abandoned for a while, owing to the state-wide movement in favor of erecting a statue of the deceased on the grounds of the state capitol at St. Paul. After the memorial at St. Paul had been unveiled, however, the agitation here was renewed and it was not difficult to obtain the necessary funds. The statue, which will grace the grounds of the court house, is a replica of the St. Paul monument.

THAW DISAPPOINTED TO MISS AUTO RIDE

Overcast Sky Prevents Matteeawan Fugitive From Promised Joy Ride.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 19.—An overcast sky which indicated the probability that he would be denied a promised auto ride appeared to Harry Thaw's chief concern this morning. Sheriff Drew told him, however, that if the storm kept the crowd of curious onlookers away he would be permitted to visit the state house and other public buildings.

The usual large amount of mail was waiting Thaw and newspaper were piled high on his table when he appeared for breakfast. The published accounts of his own case were read as closely as ever.

DEATH OF MEXICANS NOT DUE TO CRIME

Military Court Decides No One Is Punishable for Death of Madero.

Mexico City, Mex., Sept. 19.—The death of the late Francisco I. Madero and Vice President Jose Maria Pino Suarez, were not brought about by a punishable crime, according to a decision pronounced by the military court here today.

Not Possible. Paris, France, Sept. 19.—Commenting on Provisional President Huerta's message read to the Mexican congress on September 18th, the next issue of the revolution in Mexico will say: "The promise made by Huerta to carry out Mexican elections in the month of October is not realistic. It is known that the ferment which reigns in the country renders more than a semblance of elections impossible."

SOLDIER AT CALUMET SHOT BY A STRIKER

Private Is Seriously Wounded While On Picket Duty Early This Morning.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 19.—While on picket duty at the Aisle Royal mine in the copper mine strike zone before daylight today Randolph Harvey, a soldier in the company of A. Kalamazoo, was shot from a bullet fired by a striker. A bullet penetrated the soldier's right arm and entered his body lodging against a rib. It is not believed the wound will result fatally. A big demonstration is planned by the Western Federation of Miners at Calumet Sunday.

WILL NAME DISTRICT OFFICERS OF HEALTH

Meeting of State Board Called for This Purpose on September 25.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 19.—To select health officers in the five health districts of the state, and for the reorganization of the general health work, Dr. C. A. Harper, secretary of the state board of health, today called a meeting of the board to be held Sept. 25. In the announcement, Dr. Harper stated that aside from the reorganization of the general health work, the new health law, the board will take up the task of promulgating rules for slaughter houses in cities and country.

The board will also consider regulation and safety of lumber camps. This is a new duty imposed upon it by the last legislature, and requires the making of rules, having the effect of law, for the erection and general conduct of camp buildings. Methods for the enforcement of the law providing for the licensing of hotels, rooming houses and boarding houses after Jan. 1 will be determined at next week's meeting.

DETAIN DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY IN HOUSE

Their Presence Expected to Have Moral Influence on Slender Majority in the Senate.

Washington, Sept. 19.—The big democratic majority in the house will be kept in Washington as a moral influence over the slender democratic control of the senate while the currency bill is under way according to plans made today by house leaders who definitely rejected for the present at least, the idea of a third day recess.

It is understood the president believes the present presence of the house will have the effect of strengthening the efforts to pass the currency bill in the senate.

SEVEN HUNDRED DOLLARS AHEAD BY NEW TRIAL

Oshkosh, Sept. 19.—Charles Timmerman of Menasha, is $700 better off as the result of a new trial of his case against the Menasha Wooden Company for no injury in his arm while working on a saw and was awarded $2,900. A new trial was secured by the company and now the case having just been settled in the circuit court here.

ESSMAN IS INFORMED HOW TO RID STATE CAPITOL OF TRESPASSING SKUNK

Madison, Wis., Sept. 19.—In the opinion of William L. Essman, superintendent of public property, the skunk discovered prowling through the devious passageways of the basement of the new capitol has left the building. For the past two weeks the night watchman, who was instructed to keep a close watch for the animal, has found no trace of him. Nevertheless letters continue to pour in on the superintendent of public property making suggestions as to the method to be followed in exterminating the animal. Even suggesting parts of the building where the animal may be hiding.

G. A. R. VETERANS TO HOLD OFFICERS ELECTION TODAY

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 19.—Election of officers of the G. A. R. and selection of the next encampment were expected to conclude official business today at the 47th annual convention of the G. A. R. in session here. The choice of commander-in-chief seems to be between Col. C. E. Adams of Superior, Neb., and Washington Gardner, of Albion, Mich. New York, Detroit, and Houston are among the cities endeavoring to secure the next encampment.

DETECTIVES DIGGING DEEP INTO PRIEST'S HISTORY AND CRIMES

Police Searching For Chicago Woman Who Loved Schmidt Before Crime—Investigating Ernest Muret.

New York Sept. 19.—Detectives delving further into the past of Hans Schmidt, the priest who murdered Anna Amuller, sought today to learn what was in his mind last April when he photographed the death certificate of Robert Smith, one of his parishioners. Photographs of this certificate and of blank forms issued by the board of health were found in Schmidt's trunk. The find led the police to believe that the priest either was making preparations then to dispose of the Amuller girl, or planned other murders. The detective came about this certificate today, but his answer gave them little information. The priest has evinced a tendency lately, to answer all questions with the declaration that he was "treating in his acts 'By God and Abraham'."

To the belief that Schmidt planned other murders, the police are more inclined than to the opinion that he was laying plans last April to be rid of the Amuller girl. They say that a skilled forger like the prisoner would have been able to have the bodies of victims buried in any cemetery by filling out counterfeit burial blanks and forging the signatures. They believe that Schmidt caused the blanks to be photographed to obtain extra copies so that he might have duplicates struck off in blank.

Inspector Pauret announced today that he was looking for another woman in the case. He gave no details of which in connection with the matter might be. The only other woman whose name has thus far been associated with Schmidt is known as Helen Green, from a letter found in Schmidt's trunk in which she said she could not live without him.

Her name was not signed to the letter, but the address and a telephone number led the police to an apartment house where a woman by that name had lived a month previously. There, it was said, that she had gone to Chicago and that several letters had been forwarded to her none of which had come back.

LONDON CONFERENCE MAY AVERT STRIKE

Efforts Will be Made to Prevent a General Tie-up in Transport Business.

London, Sept. 19.—A general omnibus strike in London, which temporarily averted today by the action of the Board of Trade, which invited representatives of the men and employers to attend a conference at the board of trade offices on Monday. The men employed by all of labor, which agreed to remain at work until the result of the conference was over.

Not a single motor man or conductor employed by the Tilling Omnibus Company was on duty in refusing to recognize the union is likely to bring about a general strike of transport workers in London, went to work this morning. Many motor bus lines from the south to the north of London were entirely suspended, causing great inconvenience. A few of the old horse omnibuses were put on the streets for the first time in several years.

INDIANA LABOR MEN MEET IN TERRE HAUTE

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 19.—Delegates from the various labor organizations in all parts of the state are beginning to arrive here and the arrangements are nearly completed for the annual convention of the Indiana State Federation of Labor, which will open here on Sunday to remain in session four days. Many noted labor leaders from Indiana and other states are expected to attend the convention, and a large attendance is expected. The state organization of the Bartenders' League, the Retail Clerks' Protective Association, and the Machinists' Union will hold their annual conventions here at the same time.

The Short Cut to Market

Railroads spend millions yearly in straightening curves and making short cuts.

It pays in no earnings. National manufacturers can shorten the curves between their plants and the local market by appealing through the best medium to reach the market—the daily newspapers.

The merchants of this town will tell you that their advertising in daily newspapers like The Gazette bring direct returns day by day.

Newspaper advertising is an intimate daily part of the people's lives. It reaches them when they are in the mood for buying.

The modern short cut to market for a nationally advertised product is through a co-operative campaign in the daily newspapers between merchant and manufacturer. If you are interested write the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers' Association, World Building, New York.

NATIONAL CONGRESS EFFICIENCY OPENED

Three Hundred Members From All Over the United States Present at Beginning of Sessions.

Lake Placid, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Fully three hundred members of the Efficiency Society, from the east, west and south, arrived here today from Albany, where the members from the west joined the members from the south and east, to spend five days as the guests of the Lake Placid club in discussing various phases of efficiency in industrial, civic and social life. The members took their dinner at the club and were greeted with an address of welcome by Dr. Melville Dewey, to which President Wilcox of the Efficiency Society made response.

According to the program prepared for this congress the study of government efficiency will form the subject for tomorrow's session. On Sunday "Religion in Efficiency" will be the topic of discussion, and on Monday Clinton R. Woodruff, secretary of the National Municipal League, will deliver an address on "Financing Organization and Management of Non-Profit-Making Organizations." Other addresses will be delivered by John H. Delaney, New York state commissioner of efficiency, and William Clinton Rogers, secretary of the National Municipal League, and many others.

MARBLE SETTERS EMPLOYED ON CAPITOL GO ON STRIKE

Madison, Wis., Sept. 19.—A score of marble setters on the new capitol building went on a strike yesterday for higher wages. The men were employed by a Milwaukee concern and it is understood here that all of the men employed by the plant in different parts of the state have gone out. Secretary Lew P. Porter of the capitol building commission said today that the strike would not delay work. Because of the delay in the shipment of marble he was bothered to keep the men busy and the strike will permit an adjustment so there will be plenty of work when the men are ready to do it.

HANS SCHMIDT, FIENDISH SLAYER OF GIRL, HAS CRIMINAL RECORD; ALWAYS BEFORE HE HAS ESCAPED PUNISHMENT ON INSANITY PLEA

Hans Schmidt and Anna Amuller. Father Hans Schmidt, the New York priest whose fiendish murder of Anna Amuller has shocked the country, has a criminal record. Before coming to this country he was arrested for attempted frauds, but his defense of insanity was sustained and he was permitted to go at large. Four years ago he was charged to the effect that he was "not responsible."

NEAR TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND VETERANS ARE STILL LIVING

More Than Eleven Thousand Died During Twelve Months Ending December 31 Last.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 19.—More than 21,000 Union veterans of the Civil War died during the twelve months ending December 31, last, and more than 180,000 such veterans are still on the rolls of the Grand Army of the Republic, according to Alfred A. Anderson, commander-in-chief of the organization, who delivered his annual address at the reunion here Thursday.

The year started with a membership of 191,948. Mr. Anderson said, and 14,777 were added to the rolls by muster, transfer and re-enlistment. The losses were as follows: By death, 11,338; by honorable discharge, 435; by transfer, 1,764; by suspension, 6,776; by dishonorable discharge, 63; by delinquent reports, 428; and by surrender of charter, 1,039, making a total loss, partially offset by gains, of 25,838. The rate of mortality, based on the membership, was 6.28 per cent. Another topic discussed at some length by Mr. Anderson was the alleged discrimination in railroad rates to Chattanooga between the Grand Army and the Confederate Veterans, who held their reunion here in May.

Mr. Anderson said, that the same rate to both camps of veterans, the Grand Army and the Confederate Veterans, was being held lightly in the estimation of the railroad authorities. The railroad rates of the South, however, gave the same rate to both camps of veterans. Mr. Anderson added, the alleged discrimination being in the north and against the Union veterans. In this connection, he said:

"The Southern Passenger Association, except the Trunk Line and the Ohio river, gave the same rate to the Union veterans that they had given to the Confederate veterans in May of this year, namely, one cent per mile. The remaining Association, located in New York and the Trans-Continental Lines, fixed the rate at two cents per mile which is, believe, a higher rate than the Grand Army has paid in some years. Included in the Association making the charge of two cents per mile was the Association whose roads operate in Missouri and Kansas and perhaps other states, which made a rate for the Confederate Veterans' Reunion of one cent per mile. The railroads from New York to Washington made charged the full regular fare to Washington, the rate for the territory of the Southern Passenger Association, which rate is in excess of the prices regularly charged for excursion tickets good for ten days and later in excess of mileage, book rates good for at least one year."

Mr. Anderson urged that the Pension committee present a bill to Congress granting a pension of $75 a month to veterans who are blind. He also recommended that an effort be made to have repealed the law providing that widows of veterans who married after June 17, 1890, should not be entitled to pensions.

"The most of us are conversant with the causes that led to the passage of that law, he said, "it was necessary and a proper law then, but since that time many honorable, kindly and affectionate women have married and ministered to them in their last hours. It seems an injustice that such noble women should be made to suffer with the irresponsible class that the law was designed to reach. Surely a law run be framed that will separate the wheat from the chaff."

GEOLOGISTS AND ENGINEERS DISCUSS MINING PROBLEMS

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 19.—Geologists and mining engineers from every mining section of the country are in attendance at the annual national convention of geologists and mining engineers, which opened here today. Many important mining problems and interesting technical matters will be considered and discussed by the members in attendance.

BODY MAYOR GAYNOR ESCORTED TO HOME BY MOUNTED POLICE

Lowered From Decks of Lusitania to City's Boat Correction in Mist This Morning.

New York, Sept. 19.—The body of William J. Gaynor, mayor of New York, died at sea September 10th lay today in the privacy of his home. In a drizzling rain it was lowered at 4 o'clock this morning from the high deck of the liner Lusitania to the city's boat Correction. Through a mist that lay over the harbor the Correction steamed an hour and a half later to Pier A. at the Battery. There a picked squad of 100 police, who stood all night in the rain formed its escort to Brooklyn.

The funeral ship slid into the harbor and came to anchor at quarantine at 1:20 this morning, the American flag at her stern drooping at half mast. A dozen stalwart sailors carried the body in its heavy lead casket from the mortuary chapel to the deck. The carpet of flowers under which it lay was removed and only the great American flag placed over the casket. The casket was placed on a dais and lowered it slowly twenty-five feet down an incline plane to the deck of the Correction.

Aboard the smaller boat the body was taken to a heavily draped catafalque in the center of the upper deck on which rested a coffin. The body was placed in the coffin and the lid closed; a wreath and a branch of palms were placed above it. The correction cast off and weighed anchor a short distance away awaiting the coming of day.

The black mist had changed to grey when the engine began to throb and she started on her journey to the Battery. The rain had ceased. It came to rest in her slip. Eight six foot pall bearers four in the uniform of the fire department and four in the uniform of the police each man with a bit of crepe on his sleeve lifted the casket to their shoulders and bore it over the gang plank to the hearse. The long vigil of the picked squad of mounted police sent at 9 o'clock last night to the pier came to an end. They stood at attention, each man at the horse's head as the casket was placed in the hearse and then, mounting their horses, led the funeral train through the deserted streets.

BLOWS UP HIS HOME IN FIT OF INSANITY

Max Hurst, Bloomington Stone Mason Kills Self and Daughter, And Fatally Wounds Wife.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 13.—In a fit of insanity Max Hurst, 50 years old, a stone mason, blew up his home with dynamite early today killing himself and one daughter, fatally wounding two other daughters and demolishing the house. Mrs. Hurst in some remarkable manner escaped. The dead: Max Hurst, 50 years old, Maude Hurst, 16 years old. Fatally hurt: Fannie Hurst, 13 years old, one leg blown off, body mangled and almost unrecognizable; Elizabeth Hurst 6 years old, body mangled. But little is known of the tragedy, beyond the results. Mrs. Hurst says the man awoke in a fit of insanity and told them all to gather in his bedroom. After they had all entered he closed and locked the door and said: "We will all die together."

Then he picked up a stick of dynamite which was lying on a table near him and threw it under the bed. There was a deafening roar and Mrs. Hurst remembered nothing more until she came to consciousness at the home of a neighbor nearly an hour later. Policemen and firemen hastened to the scene and at once began search of the ruins. The bodies of Hurst and his dead daughter were found in a mass of debris at the rear of the home. The other two daughters were in another part of the ruins. Both were unconscious. Hurst who was out of work, had been acting strangely of late.

SPORT Snap-Shots

MORRIS MILLER

Frank Chance is cheering up a lot over the prospects of his Yanks and declares that the days of defeats and misfortune are over. The team's latest performances have so pleased the Peerless Leader that he is growing eloquent in his efforts to tell what all they are going to do next summer. "Of course it would be nice if we could pull out of last place before the season closes," says Frank, "but I'm not worrying so much over that. What particularly interests me is the showing of the new recruits and the lovely chances we seem to have of building up a strong organization for next year."

When I first took hold of things here I had very little first-class material to work with. But we've done a great deal in weeding out the weak talent thus far and that's a big item. The very pleasing showing the team has made of late cheers me mightily and I'm sure that the dark days have passed away for good. So we'll expect to see some warm playing from the Yanks next season.

Clyde Milan, Washington's base stealing wonder, is going to have one of the boys back home for a teammate next season, if the party in question shows the speed that is expected of him. Back at Linden, Tenn., which is Milan's childhood home, Life Sloane is cutting up quite a bit as a pitcher and has shown so much stuff that Milan feels sure he will make a god of it in the big show.

Upon hearing of Sloane's wonderful doings Clyde went to Manager Griffith and talked the matter over with him. And Griffith told Milan to get in touch with Sloane when he returned home and if he thought he had the stuff to bring him south in the spring. Which Milan is eager to do.

When Johnny Kilbane went after Jimmy Walsh at Boston the other day there was a sting in every wall because Walsh was the real Nemesis of Johnny's career, the jinxed fighter he had ever sought to trounce. Walsh came nearer having Johnny's goat than any other fighter the featherweight king ever met, which is far from saying that he had it though. But in the two previous encounters between Kilbane and Walsh, Johnny had somehow not managed to get away with a very clean margin. At Canton some long while ago, Kilbane won the decision over Walsh, but with only a slight shade, and after a hard battle. At Boston last winter Walsh was given a draw with Johnny, altho this decision brought a storm of protest and the Boston referee was said to have shown partiality to Kilbane in signing the papers for this latest fight balked absolutely on the referee that ruled the other fight and this time a different official presided. Kilbane was eager to show Walsh up decisively this last time, but surely put up one of the hottest bouts yet.

Item of interest. In every Philadelphia series thus far the team winning the first game won all the rest, or at least they never lost any. Just why this should be or what it means we don't know, but maybe you can figure it out. There's no ketch in there anywhere.

Albert G. Schmiedeman, the new United States minister to Norway, sailed from New York on September 18 for his post. Mr. Schmiedeman hails from Madison, Wis., where he has been a prominent clothing merchant and city official for twenty-five years. He took with him his private secretary, a senior of the University of Wisconsin, Richard T. Reinholdt, editor-in-chief of the Wisconsin Daily News, university paper.

ATHLETICS' CLASSY FIRST-BASEMAN TO BE IMPORTANT FIGURE IN BIG SERIES

McInnis.

A new star in world's series games, and also a very bright one, will show up this year in the person of Stuffy McInnis, the Athletics' classy first baseman. He was a member of the 1911 team, but during the all-star series George Mullin broke Stuffy's wrist with a fast one. Harry Davis played at first that year. McInnis is expected to be a bigger help to the coming series than Davis was two years ago. Besides being a classy infielder, McInnis is always there with the stick. He has a batting average of .327.

China's Early Paper Money.

As in many lines of industry China led the way among the nations in the use of paper currency in business. Since the fifteenth century, however, no paper money has been issued in the celestial empire, and it is due only to China's industrial and commercial growth that the government has recently appointed a commission to investigate the matter.—System.

MUCH SATISFACTION.

There is much satisfaction on the part of the old time opponents of La Follette and his ring of politicians, over the vote of Wisconsin's senator on the tariff question. There will be just the same sort of jubilation over the vote of several of the Wisconsin congressmen on Thursday when the currency bill came up for passage in the house.

However, former Governor Hoard of Fort Atkinson, a former warm supporter of La Follette and his doctrines, under the caption, "I told you so," discusses the Wisconsin situation from his point of view which is a most wise one. Governor Hoard knows what he is talking about. He knows the waste of state money since the reform element took control and is qualified to pass in judgment. He says in the Jefferson County Union: "A nice mess Wisconsin is in. La Follette has deserted his party to which he has pretended he belonged and has gone over to the free trade democracy where in fact he has belonged all the time."

"The state treasurer has issued a cry of warning and says the treasury is practically bankrupt, having been looted by the progressive gang in the last legislature."

"And now they say that the total amount of state expenditure for the next two years is not thirty million of dollars nor thirty-two millions, but thirty-six millions of dollars. How do you like it you republicans who have been led by the nose by this progressive gang all the time, warning you, faith on promises and not on facts?"

"Do you call to mind that the Union has been telling you all the time what a spendthrift, wasteful gang it was you were backing up? Do you remember that the Union warned you three years ago that La Follette was utterly unworthy of the trust and confidence of honest men. Smart business this is putting your faith in men who even a blind man can see are doing nothing but scheming how to get office and load the people down with a tremendous burden of taxation. It is about time you made up your minds that a republican turn-out and a progressive gang of treasury looters are just as bad as though they were named democrats. Use your votes at the next election to dump this whole crowd from senator down into the discard pile."

"All you have had from La Follette is political shame and treachery, and from the state government that he has controlled, a bankrupt treasury and a big tax bill next year."

"Do you need any more of this bitter medicine? The Union has been sane and faithful and has stood up and told you plainly where this kind of politics was leading you to. Can you see it now?"

WAGES AND LIVING.

High cost of living has been a subject which has given the demagogue no end of opportunity to seek for popular favor. It has been dished up in every conceivable form by muckraking magazines and newspapers who seek to inflame the popular mind against the men who have made a success of their business. But little or nothing has been said of the increase in the cost of labor.

From a bulletin recently published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor it may easily be gathered that labor has been no laggard in the general cost advance. Reports have been collected from thirty-nine industrial cities and cover forty of the principal wage-earning trades. The period covered is 1907-1913 inclusive.

It is shown that not only have the unions been busy in securing additional pay for all classes of labor, but they have also been industrious in reducing the hours of work. In every instance cited the rate per hour has been substantially increased, and in thirty-nine cases out of the forty the hours of work of the trades have been reduced. A sample may be taken from the bakers which is peculiarly illustrative. In this industry the number of hours of first hands has been reduced 17.7 per cent and the rate per hour increased 22 per cent; second hands' hours have been decreased 6.5 per cent and the rate per hour increased 26.6 per cent and with third hands the hours have been decreased 10.1 per cent and the rate per hour increased 40.7 per cent.

Almost every branch of industry reports relatively the same sort of changes. It is a constant lessening of the amount of labor done and a constant increasing of the rate paid per hour. Labor of bakers, like almost all the other laborers in the tables, are paid by the public generally and are a part of the expense of living. Prices for food are not the only cost that the citizen has to meet. Ultimately, he pays the bill for every class of labor.

Of course, it may be argued that these wages must be increased in order that the workman can meet the advanced cost of living. This is arguing in a circle. Advances in wages add to the cost of living and subsequently make other advances necessary. The truth of the matter is that the entire system has reached too high a scale. The dollar has become too large. Statesmen may better find some way of getting back to a more moderate plane rather than attempting to legislate prices.

Over at Elkhorn they are holding a county fair that evidently is a fair. The Milwaukee papers are paying much attention to the Elkhorn fair, which is just about as easy to reach from Milwaukee as the state fair is from the heart of the business district of that city.

The Bull Moosers are most insistent that there shall be a full state election in the field next year from United States senator down to coroner in the various counties. It promises to be a merry war after all.

Huerta, it is said, intends to resign on account of falling eyesight. And keenness of vision is not necessary to perceive that is the best thing he can do.

Dr. Cook having struck the chau-tauqua circuit, Mr. Bryan can now attend to his official duties in peace. The public will be properly instructed.

Congress has started the currency measure on its way. The lower house passed it yesterday and it now goes to the senate for confirmation.

"Thaw's in Charge of United States," says a headline. As the court crier says, "God Save the United States."

There are still golden opportunities for young men in New York—providing they can win the friendship of Mr. Murphy.

Casual readers of newspaper first pages might suppose murder mysteries to be the favorite national amusement.

There is plenty of red tape in Canada, but Canada seems to know what to do to it in case of an emergency.

A Baltimore man has been operated upon two hundred times. But the last time an undertaker did it.

Money talks. But little has been said in the currency debate in congress that is worth while.

A scientist declares that germs can get into fresh eggs. The obvious remedy is to boil the eggs.

At any rate Harry Thaw has demonstrated that he is not among those who can't come back.

More Dollar Diplomacy. Mr. Wilson evidently believes that a hundred thousand dollars spent in the grade having been completed for the first block south of the Court House park. The first layer of crushed rock is now being hauled. Contractor Ryan will not begin the paving until the first of October. Until a later date owing to the fact a delay will be necessary in order to get the crushed stone from the city quarry.

The paving work on South Division street is progressing satisfactorily. The grade having been completed for the first block south of the Court House park. The first layer of crushed rock is now being hauled. Contractor Ryan will not begin the paving until the first of October. Until a later date owing to the fact a delay will be necessary in order to get the crushed stone from the city quarry.

Also to Janesville. The Wisconsin State Fair in a week is attended by about as many paying patrons as go to the Minnesota State fair in a day. Why? Perhaps it is because the latter fair is between two cities and with excellent car and steam railway facilities. Here is a lesson to Chippewa Falls and Eau Claire and a big one.—Eau Claire Leader.

Nations Interdependent. Hard times in one country communicate itself to some extent to other countries. Each country is more prosperous when its neighboring countries are prosperous. There is a growing recognition of the fact that the nations of the world are no longer independent, but are interdependent, and that their mutual interests require that each should be maintained at the highest point of efficiency.—Superior Telegram.

Hard Tasks in Life. It is always easier not to feel, than always to feel right; and easier not to act than always to act well. For he that is determined to admire only that which is beautiful imposes a much harder task upon himself than he who, determined not to see that which is contrary, shuts his eyes.—Colton.

EXPOSURE

The Diary of a Bonehead.

As a bit of gentle satire I gave my wife for Christmas a cook book. Yesterday I came to the hospital where I am now doing as well as expected. Several months elapsed between those two events, as you may have noticed, and I nearly eluded myself.

Young man, never give your wife a cook book, even in a spirit of enlightenment, for you will live to regret it, or maybe you won't live. It all depends upon the state of your constitution.

We were having plain, old-fashioned honey fare when I thought of the plan to give my wife a cook book. I thought it would put her wise to the fact that there were other things to eat in this world besides sides of beef and cabbage and pork and beans. It was just sort of a gentle laugh.

My wife is not a dull woman, even though she did marry me. She turned to the hint as readily as though it had been a bargain sale in shirtwaists and the day after she got the cook book from me she began to make things out of it.

She forgot all about the old-fashioned fare and began to sit up nights with the cook book in one hand and an egg beater in the other, doing out a line of polite and aristocratic food for the next day.

We had cheese ramniks, cream puffs, souffles and three or four different kinds of a la modes for breakfast. She was getting wise, it was easy to see. She had me groggy in two weeks and in four weeks would have given $4 for a good plate of homemade pork and beans. I never saw a woman as devoted to a subject as my wife was to that cook book. It was her religion.

She used up about $19 worth of fancy groceries every day and when the cook book merely referred me to the cook book I gave her.

With my digestive apparatus hitting on only one cylinder I went to see my doctor. He said:

"You came to me just in time. One more week and a lot of people would be looking at you and saying: 'Doesn't he look natural?'"

When I got home from the hospital I am going to hire a burglar to break in at night and steal that cook book.

From the Hickeyville Clarion.

Hank Tumms tells mighty high-toned since he went down to the city to have his eyes examined. The specialist said Hank had compound hyperopic astigmatism complicated with blepharitis, etc., etc. They will have a hard time keeping Hank out of the smart set of polite society now.

The Clarion announced last week the engagement of Miss Elmer Jones, the popular canvasser for the Handy Household Companion, to Miss Amy Pringle, our village milliner. Both now wish to deny the allegation, which was brought to this office by a mutual friend of both, but we refuse to retract for the Clarion having said they are engaged, and the only proper thing for them to do under the circumstances is to get married. They ought to have been married fourteen years ago, anyhow.

Rev. Rudolph, pastor of the Hard Shell church, says the lathing and plastering and paper hanging business is so poor as a side line in this town that he may have to accept a call to a larger field.

Ame Hilliker, our popular and congenial grocerman, also ice cream, shoe blacking, lime, land plaster and tar roofing sale, reports to Constable Ezra Hand that some parties worked the combination on his burglar-proof diet pickle barrel one night this week and got away with two or three dozen. Local talent is suspected.

The Pankhurst Spinsters.

The man who weds a Pankhurst girl will surely have a snap. No shade of trouble or evil will lie across his placid map.

He can stay out as many nights per week as he may wish.

There'll be no one to call him down.

Or smash him with a dish.

He will not have to make excuse and fear that it will fail.

For every night when he comes home His wife will be in jail.

A Martyr.

Folks always look at me askance. As though they would not take a chance.

On me or my veracity.

They have a doubt concerning me. They say that I, in pleasant way, Had often told them far astray.

By promising a lot of things, And then said promises to wings.

They do not seem to know that I To keep my word do ever try.

Or that I do the best I can.

Who am I? I'm the Weather Man.

FALL OILING WORK TO BEGIN TOMORROW

Main Traveled Streets Will be Given Attention at Once—Division Street Work Progressing.

Work of reoilng the main traveled streets of the city will be started tomorrow, according to the Superintendent of Streets, G. C. Millmore. Among the streets which will be given immediate attention are North and South Jackson streets, Washington street, Ravine street, North Main street and a block on North Bluff street. It is possible that other streets which are in need of a new coat of oil will be treated as soon as convenient. Payments of the oiling assessment against property owners are now being paid at the office of the city treasurer.

The paving work on South Division street is progressing satisfactorily. The grade having been completed for the first block south of the Court House park. The first layer of crushed rock is now being hauled. Contractor Ryan will not begin the paving until the first of October. Until a later date owing to the fact a delay will be necessary in order to get the crushed stone from the city quarry.

As a medicine camphor is invaluable if used judiciously. If six or ten drops are taken on a lump of sugar when sneezing starts, a bad cold in the head can often be checked. This dose should not be repeated closer than an hour apart. Be sure that it agrees with you.

Ponderous Personages

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Slawash."

Brutus was a Roman citizen who rose from obscurity early in the last century B. C. and went into the patriot business with great success for a time.

Rome was very shy of patriots during that period, it being the common practice for a Roman, as soon as he became great, to grab the country by unscrupulous means. Brutus was an exception with the aid of a short, sharp sword and to run it as a vested interest until death did him part, which it usually did in a punstaking and extensive fashion.

When Brutus was a young man, Caesar came back from Gaul, after having whipped all comers as far north as the traveling was good and at once he set to work to grab the country in Rome. Brutus joined with Pompey and fought him with great enthusiasm. However, Pompey was eradicated and Caesar, who was a first-class politician, forgave Brutus, gave him the postmaster's office and afterward made him governor of Macedonia.

Brutus might now have retired on his laurels as a patriot and have lived to the end of his days. But he had another plan. He named Cassius, who was lean, mean and scheming. He sold books on the installment plan and spent his spare time plotting. He persuaded Brutus that it was his duty to gather a small body of prominent citizens and butcher Caesar. This was very repugnant to Brutus but he was strong on duty and was one of these men who would do almost anything from chicken stealing down to a duty. So he gathered a few personal friends together and one day when Caesar was sunning himself in the Senate they formed a hollow square around him and stabbed him in seven dozen places.

Brutus came forth to receive the plaudits of the people for his patriotism but they received him with boots and bricksbats and old defunct cats, and he retired in a hurry to Greece to think it over. After a while it seemed to be his duty to gather an army and grab Rome himself for her and Cassius opened an enlistment office and by promising each man a life job in the streets and bank department they gathered a vast force. Mark Anthony and Octavius eventually defeated them and Brutus fell on his sword and killed himself to save someone else the trouble.

Brutus was a patriot and he lived to the end of his days. He had always did his duty. If he had been a better judge of duty he would have lived longer.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

TWO RECIPES.

Recipe for unhappiness: Think only of yourself. Care only for yourself. Work only for yourself. Mix and use daily.

If you doubt the formula look about you.

One of the popular plays is a fine illustration. A rich man has lived a self centered life. He grows morbid and begins to fancy he is in ill health. Learned physicians confirm his fears. The old man, frightened at every symptom of approaching disease, resolves to kill himself.

He rents a room in a cheap tenement and prepares to blow out his brains.

As he raises the pistol to his temple a ragged, forlorn young girl happens to come into his room and engages him in conversation. She tells him her troubles—real troubles calculated to harass the mind and harrow the heart.

The girl does not complain. She is bravely facing her future. She says she is fighting to save her womanhood, whatever else she may lose. And in the depths of great misery she is hopeful of success.

The revelation makes the old man ashamed of his troubles, most of which are imaginary.

He becomes interested in the girl's struggle. He uses some of his money to help her help herself. In the end the old man is restored to health and the girl scores success.

It is the old story.

The man who was freezing began to try to save the life of his comrade. In saving the other man he saved himself.

Therefore the recipe for happiness: Think of others, care for others, labor for others.

Happily for our fellows, we are so made that to be happy, we must make others happy.

Trite, commonplace? Yes, but eternally true.

Selfishness earns its own punishment. Pushed to the extreme, it becomes so much a burden that men will kill themselves to rid them of the load.

Generosity is its own reward. Both recipes may be relied upon.

Do something for somebody and be happy. Do everything for your own sake—and be miserable.

"Ki nBun and Bride"

THE confidence of promoters in the drawing power of motion pictures and the players in them who have become famous was strikingly illustrated by the selection of John Bunny and Lillian Walker, who often appear here in "Vivian" pictures at the Lyric, as King and Queen of the Coney Island Mardi Gras. For several years this annual festival has been the greatest incentive for pride and hope on the part of the business men of the resort, and the selection of the king and queen has been looked upon as one of the most important of the preliminary details. Each year preceding the present one the selection has been made by popular vote and the cost to the successful candidates and their friends has been enormous.

The contestants have been leading business men and popular social people of Greater New York, and the interest aroused by the battle of the ballots has been relied upon to a great extent as the magnet to draw the crowds to the scene of festivities. This year Mr. Bunny and the fair Miss Lillian walked to the throne without contest, or the slightest voluntary movement on their part. It has been said by some the event, even by many who cannot be consistently charged with jealousy, that the two popular players sought the honor as a means of advertisement, or were placed there for the same purpose by the company with which they are connected. But neither version of the reason for the uncontested selection of the two players as the stars of the event is correct. Neither of them anticipated, or thought of the honor until a representative of the Mardi Gras committee made a personal call and asked them if they would accept it. This is not a press agent yarn, but a statement based upon actual facts. When it is considered that one of the kings was so elated over his election that he presented the queen with a $1200 necklace and in one place during the week of festivities spent nearly five hundred dollars in wine, none can fail to pardon Mr. Bunny and Miss Walker for any pride and enthusiasm they may have displayed as a result of their uncontested selection. But "King Bun and Bride," as their intimates termed them, carried the honor very gracefully and unostentatiously. Both continued their studio work up to within a few hours of their coronation and are back on the job again after having been the objects of homage on the part of hundreds of thousands of people, without the slightest indication of enlargement of the cranium. And it may be added with propriety, King John did not distribute any diamonds while upon the throne. Other wise he was all right. That perpetual smile of John's was a winner, and more than made up for the lack of an Adonis-like charms. Miss Walker carried the beauty end of it with flying colors.

A story regarding authenticator has been circulated to the effect that when John Bunny awoke on the morning following the close of his reign he laboriously arose from his bed stretched himself and murmured "Oink oink oink oink oink oink oink! O, what a beautiful dream!"

ADMITS HIS GUILT TO STATE'S LAWYER AT WAUKEGAN, ILL.

William T. Harrington Confesses He Has Two Wives Living and That He Forged Checks.

William T. Harrington alias Thomas Holleran, who was arrested in this city on Tuesday by an officer from Waukegan, Ill., has confessed to the state attorney at Waukegan that he had two wives living, one at Waukegan and the other at Janesville, and that he forged two checks in the Illinois city over two years ago, according to word received in this city today.

Harrington has been given a hearing and has been held to the grand jury for indictment. He has decided to throw himself on the mercy of the court.

He was married to Mrs. Doris Olsen at Waukegan about five years ago. He left the Illinois city quite suddenly after he had committed two forgeries one against the Security Savings Bank for $100 and the other against A. H. Seifert a saloonkeeper for $75. His whereabouts were not known at Waukegan for several years, although the authorities had been searching for him, until he was finally located at Janesville less than a week ago.

Harrington was married to Miss Ida Smith of this city at Batavia, Ill., on December 27, 1911.

COMMIT TWENTY-ONE TO JAIL IN A WEEK

Fifteen of This Number From Janesville Municipal Court—Four From Beloit.

No less than twenty-one have been committed to the county jail this week, sixteen of the prisoners being committed by the Janesville municipal court. Four were committed from Beloit and one from Evansville. Beloit, all of them have been provided with work under the new commitment law. Thirty-eight have been sentenced under this statute since it came into effect. Judge Clark of Beloit was the first to take advantage of it, the first prisoner sentenced under it being given work on August 15. It was not until September 11 when Judge Maxfield took office that the first commitment of the kind was made from the Janesville court. According to Sheriff Whipple the records show that more than sixty per cent of the commitments to jail are made from the local court.

Laurean Meeting: The Laurean society held its regular meeting at the city school last evening. Several applications for membership were received but no action was taken owing to the fact that no critic has been secured to succeed Miss Martha McCreary, former of the high school faculty. An interesting program was enjoyed.

The convention work yesterday consisted of the reports of the ministers and a regular Evangelistic service with Rev. Sturdevant of Plattville, in charge. The following were chosen as district elders:

Rev. Roberts of Portage; Rev. Damon of La Farge, and Rev. Endicott of Evansville.

The attendance yesterday was much larger than the first day of the convention.

Last evening the Young Ladies' Missionary society of the First Baptist church, entertained at a watermelon party in the church parlors.

An amusing program and parlor games afforded the amusement for the evening, all present reporting a pleasant time.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bestor attended the dance in Brookline last night.

Dr. C. S. Ware attended the Madison fair yesterday.

The annual thank offering for special gifts for foreign missions, was held yesterday in the Congregational church by the Woman's Missionary society and young ladies' missionary society of that church.

Mrs. E. D. Eaton of Beloit, gave the address of the afternoon, her topic being "China." An especially appreciative audience listened to her instructive and interesting talk.

The afternoon concluded with one of the splendid suppers which the Congregational ladies are capable of serving.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hyne attended the fair in Elkhorn today.

Horace Brown returned to Janesville yesterday, where he resumed his position with the Janesville motor works, after a brief vacation spent at his home here.

Ray Hyne motored to Elkhorn fair yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Jones attended the fair in Madison yesterday.

The fair are being made for the high school freshmen reception which will probably be held one week from tonight.

Miss Olive Ludington took up her second year's work at Rockford girls' college this week.

Word has been received from Miss Jennie Crow, who is beginning upon her first year's teaching in Chisholm, Minn., after her graduation from the Stout institute, and who is much absorbed in her work there.

Miss Jna Sharman leaves tomorrow for Hillside, Wis., where she will instruct in the Arts and Crafts department of the high school. This is Miss Sharman's first year of teaching since her graduation from the Art institute Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tyne, Mr. and Mrs. M. Lewis and Thomas Steele motored to the Elkhorn fair today.

Mrs. E. P. Cotton informally entertained a number of friends at her home Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Isaac Sherman and Mrs. Edwin Gabriel attended the W. C. T. U. Convention in Edgerton yesterday.

Misses Beth and June Baker, Jessie Kelley, Clara Richardson and Wesley Langniak, returned Monday from Yellowstone park where they have spent the past six weeks sight seeing.

Methodist Episcopal Church.
Sunday morning service at 10:30; the Sunday school at 11:45; service at 7:00. The church seeks to be helpful in the largest and best way and in all its services endeavors to make clear, real, vital and desired, the great foundation truths of the Kingdom of God. Special music at all services, inspiring song service in which all the people join. Practical sermons and a cordial welcome. All are invited to make one glad to have a part.

First Baptist Church.
Morning service at 10:30, subject "Luck vs. Providence." Bible study at 11:45. Evening service at 7:30, special address by T. T. Phelps, on "Fads, Frenzy and Facts, or the Conservation of Health." This subject was the result of special investigation by the pastor during his vacation in conference with some of the leading educators and physicians of the East.

Union Village Baptist Church.
Regular services Sunday, 2:30, address by the pastor on the subject "How to Live Long and Happy." Sunday school at 4:30. A special Sunday school institute Friday afternoon and evening. The state Sunday school workers will be present.

Lutheran Church.
There will be German Lutheran services in the city hall, Sunday, Sept. 21, at 10:00 a. m. All German and English speaking Lutherans in Evansville, and vicinity are cordially invited. Rev. P. Felten, Hanover, Wis., St. John's Episcopal Church.

Congregational Church.
Sunday morning service at 10:30, sermon by the minister; special music. Sunday school at 11:45. In the evening at 7:30, Miss Helen Osborne Henry of Los Angeles, will give a lecture on New Zealand, the scenic paradise of the world, the land of Maori and Moa, geysers and glaciers, hot and cold lakes. Come out and learn something about the customs, costumes, industries, legislation, and political experiment of this world's lecture will be illustrated. The slides used were presented by the government to Miss Henry's father, Rev. J. R. A. Henry and are therefore authoritative and the best that can be made.

"This gifted young woman for a full hour gave a graphic description of the people visited during her journey of 25,000 miles, dealing with the natural and secular aspects of life and with the missionary work and religious beliefs. She has an attractive and winning address, with fine delivery and informing knowledge."—Dr. A. P. Graver in Pacific Baptist.

You are invited to be present.

CHANGES ARE MADE IN CAR DEPARTMENT

Place Men Employed in Car Department Under Separate Bureau With Offices at Madison and Chicago.

New changes have been made in the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad whereby the car department was separated from the locomotive and a separate bureau was made to govern the men employed in the car department.

Before the terminal roundhouse foreman had jurisdiction of the car employees and Herman Kressin, foreman at the Janesville shops, governed the car men at Janesville, Rockford, and Mineral Point. W. O. Davis has been appointed by the superintendent of the Janesville and Mineral Point carmen and has his headquarters at Milwaukee. The Rockford carmen are under T. R. Morris, whose office is at Chicago.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

"THE GREATEST MISTAKE IN MY LIFE WAS MADE WHEN I DRIFTED INTO COLLEGE." A young woman said to me the other day. "All the other girls in my crowd were going and so I went. I knew my father expected me to be capable of supporting myself when I graduated, but I thought I should probably teach. When I finished college, I found I hated teaching but there wasn't anything else for me to do. I'm teaching now but I'm not a success, and never shall be, because I hate my work."

"What would you do if you had your life to live over again?" I asked. Her face lit up like the sun suddenly coming out on a cloudy day. "I should study interior decorating or something along that line," she said. "I have a little talent for drawing and I love anything to do with houses. I had some idea of going to a technical school and learned something along that line, but I should have been far happier today."

"Why don't you go now?" I asked. "The sun went back behind a cloud. 'It's too late now,' she said, 'I cannot ask Father for more money for another education and I can't earn it myself this way.'"

That's what I call a tragedy. And a tragedy that is happening every day. For every day girls with their living to earn are drifting into college and finding after they have spent all their spare time and money that they are not prepared for any vocation which they enjoy.

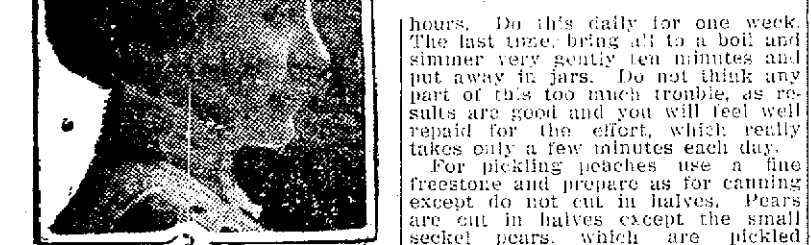

A college education is the ideal thing for the girl who does not expect to get from it any financial return; or for the girl who can supplement it with some technical training; or for the girl who wishes to teach, but for the girl who must have a financial return and who cannot afford any supplementary training, and who does not want to teach, a college education is likely to be a great mistake.

"What is Dorothy going to do when she gets through High School?" I asked a mother the other day. "Well, she used to think she wanted to take the Kindergarten training, but all her friends are going to college, so I imagine she will end up in college," said Dorothy's mother.

Another girl drifting along the line of least resistance into a probable mistake!

How much wiser the mother who said to me of her ten year old girl, "If she keeps the tastes she has now we will try to make an architect of her. She takes such an interest in houses and the way they are built. I think all parents ought to take careful stock of their children's tastes and talents and do what they can to see that their education is along the lines of their greatest possibility."

Don't let your girl drift into college. Let her go there if that is the best thing, by all means, but don't let her drift to college simply because it's the most obvious course.

PICKLING AND PRESERVING:—SOME SEPTEMBER RECIPES

This is the month of many "commonplace" things blended with others which are in greater variety than almost any month of the year. It is the homecoming time for some and going-away time for others.

It is the month that the summer bride has her first real experience in regular routine work. Making her first jellies and pickles is a tragedy for her unless she has been forewarned or her friends for her, and she is provided with a few sure recipes.

She should know that if she wishes successfully to make peach jelly, that the juice of a lemon for every pint of peach juice changes the flavor a little but peaches will not "jell" without an acid. Tart apples may also be used.

Plums and crabapples make a perfect jelly, also grapes but a sour apple or two saves the day with the grape jelly and let the syrup change
the flavor very little.

Watermelon, Peach or Pear Pickles.
Materials—Ground allspice, two teaspoonfuls; cinnamon, two tea-spoonfuls; cloves, one teaspoonful;
mace, one teaspoonful; light brown
sugar, four pounds; cider vinegar,
one pint; green ginger root, one-half ounce; watermelon rind, seven pounds.

Directions—Divide the spice in three parts and tie up in muslin bags. Put the sugar and vinegar into the kettle; add the spice bags and ginger root broken into small pieces.
Bring to a boil and put in the watermelon rind cut in small pieces, about length pieces, having soaked them in ice water several hours. Bring to a boil once more, remove from fire,
cover and let stand in a cool place twenty-four hours. Then take out the melon rind and let the syrup come to a boil. Add the rind again and set away for another twenty-four hours. Do this daily for one week.

The last time bring all to a boil and simmer very gently ten minutes and put away in jars. Do not think any part of this too much trouble, as results are good and you will feel well repaid for the effort which really takes only a few minutes each day.

For pickling peaches use a fine
freestone and prepare as for canning except do not cut in halves. Peaches are cut in halves except the small seckel peaches, which are pickled whole.

Crow Chow.
Materials—English mustard, one-
half pound; tumeric, one-half ounce;
mustard, two tablespoonfuls; cider
vinegar, one-half gallon; brown sugar,
one cup; olive oil, one-half cup;
cucumbers, one head; tiny cucumbers, one quart; button onions, one quart.

Directions—Cover the cucumbers
with strong salt water and let stand over night, drain and wash. Boil the cucumbers and onions separately.
Put the mustard into the kettle, mix
the mustard and tumeric, then stir them into the hot vinegar and stir until the mixture is thick. Add the oil, then add the remaining ingredients and pour this while hot over the well-drained vegetables and cucumbers. Seal jars. Medium-sized cucumbers may be used and cut in pieces, not sliced.

Canning Large Fruit.
Materials—Peaches, eight pounds;
sugar, two pounds; water, one quart.
Directions—Put the jars and covers into the large kettle filled with water and bring slowly to the boiling point. Add the sugar to the given amount of water, stirring until the sugar is dissolved. Place it over the fire and boil ten minutes. Skim.
While the jars are heating and the syrup boiling, put the fruit, a little at a time into wire basket and dip in hot water for just a moment. Cut the peaches in halves, remove the stone and the skin. Be sure you do this as the peaches are kept in perfect shape.
Take one jar at a time from the hot water, drain and neatly arrange the fruit in them. Fill to overflow with the boiling syrup, adjust the sterilized
rubbers and screw down the covers.
Have some of the boiling syrup in readiness, and if the syrup is not at the top of the jar, fill with the syrup
to overflowing and seal at once.

These directions will answer for all large fruit, such as peaches, apples, pineapples, and quinces. Add a little green ginger root to peaches for flavor.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have a new red jacket that is quite expensive, but the bindings are loose
when I perspire fade on my waists.
Recently I wore it with a white voile and it cannot be worn again
until the stains are removed.
Would you please tell me how to take them out? Will this move good in colored dresses, or will it take the color out when removing the stains?

ANXIOUS READER.
Possibly turpentine will take this

out. If it does not, Javelle water surely will, but it cannot be used on colored goods. You may be able to get the prepared Javelle water at the drug store. If not, make it as follows: One pound washing soda, one quart boiling water, one-half pound
caliche of lime, two quarts cold water.

Put soda in agate pan and add boiling water. Dissolve lime in the cold water. Let mixture settle, then pour the clear liquid into the dissolved soda. Bottle and keep in a dark place. Apply a little Javelle water to the stain, then rinse instantly with boiling water. Continue until stain is gone. Finally rinse in water with a little ammonia added. Be sure to rinse well. Not to be used for woolen goods.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a young man for three years. He seems to think a lot of me. I also think the same of him, but he is so jealous he can't stand
for me to go with any other boy.
He has to work at night and I don't get to go to a lot of places I could if he would only let me go with someone else. I try to do everything

I can to please him.

He has asked me to marry him,
but wants me to wait a little while longer. Now will you please tell me how to break him of being so jealous?

MILDRER.
I think he loves you, my dear, but perhaps isn't quite ready to marry.
He may be saving money toward a home, or waiting for a better job.
Why not ask him, in a tactful way,
what he hopes to do? Get interested in his work and maybe you can be a help to him. If you two could begin planning your home, you wouldn't want to go out with other boys for a good time. Try to be satisfied with the good times your young man is able to give you and so get in training for making a good wife.

Dear Mrs. Thompson (1) I am a girl of twelve years, but I am very small for my age and people tell me that I look like I am but nine years old. Do you think I am too large to wear socks?

(2) What is the style of dresses
for little girls this fall?

(3) What will take freckles off
the face?

(1) No matter what your size,
my dear, you are too old to wear
socks.

(2) Very plain, somewhat following the styles for grownups.

(3) Keep your face well shaded
by a big hat when you go outdoors,
and bathe the skin every day in buttermilk. Let the buttermilk dry on and wash it off a while afterward
with water.

MORE GOOD THINGS.
These southern biscuits are good to serve for any occasion, and are especially good split and toasted. Scald a pint of milk with a teaspoonful of lard, two of butter and two of sugar and two of salt. Dissolve a half of a yeast cake in a little of the cooled milk, beat an egg and add to it, then mix all together with six cupfuls of flour. Beat and set to rise in a covered pan or mixing bowl. For six o'clock tea, put the sponge to rise at ten o'clock in the morning. At three in the afternoon knead and roll out as for ordinary biscuit; cut with a small cutter, brush the top of each biscuit with butter and put to rise.
They should be very light, a little more than double their original bulk.
Bake in a hot oven for fifteen minutes,
or perhaps twenty.

The addition of a cup of mashed potato to these biscuits when the sponge is set makes them very moist and of good flavor.

Scotch Potato Scones.—Sift a cup
and a half of flour, two teaspoonfuls
of baking powder and a half teaspoonful of salt, rub in a third of a cup of butter and add a cup of mashed potatoes. Make a soft dough by adding a beaten egg and milk to roll. If the potato is moist no milk will be needed.
Divide the dough into three parts and roll in rounds half an inch thick; cut and bake in a hot oven. Split, butter and serve hot.

Boneless Birds.—Cut veal cutlets
into two-inch squares, pound until thin, salt and pepper, lay on a sprig of parsley with a piece of bacon; roll up and skewer with two toothpicks. Roll in flour and brown in a little fat, simmer gently in a little water until tender—it will take two hours. Remove the birds and add a little cream to the gravy in the pan; the addition of flour made smooth with milk need not be done if there is flour enough in the pan for the birds. Pour over the birds and serve.

Peanuts and Lettuce.—Prepare lettuce, sprinkle with finely broken, not chopped, nuts, and add a French dressing with a bit of grated onion or onion juice.

MADE A GREAT HIT WITH THE LADIES.

Imperial Patterns Numerously Applied for Yesterday at Gazette.

From early morning until late in the evening yesterday, a constant stream of customers gravitated to the Embroidery Department of the Gazette to secure one or more of the celebrated outfits of Patterns, which make embroidery transfers by a new process, an art that any girl may follow with profit and pleasure, in all the latest designs for the decoration of fabrics, linens, or any other articles that lend themselves to its application. Not only were young ladies in evidence as eager buyers,
but young girls, old ladies and men of all ages. Hundreds of packets on yesterday's opening day were handed over the counter to satisfied purchasers who qualified by presenting six embroidery coupons clipped from
"The Gazette" and 68 cents in cash
for each Pattern Outfit.

As every woman knows that in the regular way an embroidery pattern never costs less than 10 cents, and often more, the enormous demand for the Pattern Outfit, which besides the largest assortment of designs, includes an all-metal patent spring needle, a booklet of instructions, will seem to her quite natural, and a foregone conclusion to be expected from an offer so unique and advantageous to every lady in the land.

Out-of-town patrons are required to add 7 cents to pay postage for the mailing of their packet but this extra does not appear to affect the demand, as mail orders are coming in fast, the demand largely caused by the fact that the opportunity may never occur again by which over 10,000 worth of latest style embroidery patterns can be obtained for 68 cents.

Calumet Baking Powder is used by the house-
wife on account of its wonderful raising quality
—its never-failing results—its certainty of producing the most delicious and wholesome food.
When these things, and the fact that it is
moderate in price, are known, we know the users
of baking powder will always buy Calumet.

NOTE—Avoid the cheap and big can powders, for they are not of uniform strength and quality. Sometimes they leave the biscuits and pastry bleached and acid, sometimes yellow and alkaline, and often unpalatable.

A lump of soda dissolved in a little

The Table.
Vegetable Cutlets.—One pound of parsnips, one grated onion, a few chopped mushrooms, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, quarter
pound of bread crumbs, one heaping teaspoonful of butter, one teaspoonful of grated cheese, half a cupful of milk, two eggs, and a few drops of lemon juice. Boil and press the parsnips through a sieve. Pour
the milk boiling onto the crumbs,
then add the parsnips puree, butter,
grated onion, mushrooms, parsley,
cheese, seasonings, and yolks of eggs.
When thoroughly mixed form into meat cutlets, brush over with the beaten whites of eggs, then roll in bread crumbs and fry in smoking-hot fat to a golden color. Drain on ki-chen paper, and serve hot on a folded napkin.

Piccalilli.—Put through the meat
chopper one peck of green tomatoes,
two small cabbages, half a peck of red and green peppers, six ripe tomatoes, and half a peck of onions.
Put them in a crock and sprinkle in two cupfuls of salt. Cover the jar securely and allow it to remain for twenty-four hours. In the morning drain, add two pounds of sugar, one pound of mustard seed, two tablespoonfuls of allspice, two tablespoonfuls of cloves, three inches of cinnamon stick, two tablespoonfuls of whole peppers and two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Tie the spices in a muslin bag. Cover all with fresh vinegar. Put in the kettle, stir all well, and simmer until the vegetables are tender, it will take about six hours. Remove the spice bag, pour into glass jars and seal.

Beet Pickle.—One quart of boiled
beets, one quart of raw cabbage,
two cupfuls of sugar, half a cupful of grated horseradish, one teaspoonful of black pepper, a quarter of a teaspoonful of red pepper, saltspoonful of paprika, one teaspoonful of salt, and vinegar to cover. Chop the beets and cabbage, add the sugar,
salt, black pepper, red pepper, paprika and horseradish, then cover with cold vinegar, pour into glass jars and seal.

Every Day Talks for Every Day People
By FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

About six years ago S. E. Kiser, of Record Herald fame wrote a little verse that runs like this:

"You may not be born to rule,
Nor you may be poor and neck;
Still as through this world you go
At least you may with kindness
speak."

That isn't the exact words of the verse. It's the thought he had in mind when he wrote it. So with apologies to Mr. Kiser we will endeavor to have a talk on the gentle good of gentle kindness in our everyday life.

Now any of us, all of us, can be kind and courteous to the stranger or to the friend that drops in for a short call. Listening to us then you almost wish that you could be an inmate of our home always, just for the privilege of hearing our sort, gentle, low voice. "That elegant thing in woman,"
You bid us a regretful Adieu, truthfully assuring us that you have enjoyed your call and will be pleased to repeat it in the near future. Accidentally you leave your umbrella. It is John's umbrella and as you never yet
left it any place that the weather man didn't decide on a shower for that particular evening, and John didn't also decide that he must go to work
on important business, you retrace
your steps.

As you near the house you involuntarily slacken your steps and scan the house carefully. This is the place, of course it is. And yet—"Some racket!"
would explicitly explain the noise inside. "You Johnnie, hang up your coat, can't you get anything through your head?" Sissie, if I tell you again to stop that infernal racket, I bet you a cent you will regret it. "Here you

Sammie SET DOWN for pity's sake
and keep your mouth shut for a minute. Reluctantly you ring the bell.
Only dire needs of that umbrella keeps
you from actually sneaking away.
"My umbrella" you say apologetically.
Is your friend chagrined? Perish
the thought. That was only the "wee-and" she was talking to. Her own beetle snore at that. Who ever heard of being as courteous, as kind, as considerate to one's own as to the stranger?

Anyhow it just don't do a bit of good to talk civil to them. They will not mind, etc., etc." She can't understand why her children are so unmanageable. Does this fit you? Does this fit me?

The man or woman who is the possessor of a gentle voice is a rarity.
The man or woman who is as kind,
courteous and considerate of their own home folks as of the stranger;
who is as willing to perform a little
act of service to aid their own; who put the home folks first in the observing of the conventionalities is almost a curiosity. Am I saying truly? You answer. To have the good opinion of the outside world is I suppose necessary. But to live so as to win and hold the good opinion of the home folks
that is to be truly great.

To be liveable. How would you define that? To live each day so as the people we come in daily contact with
may not be scandalized, upset or made unhappy by any word or act of ours.
Is that your definition?

True greatness lies in simply being a gentleman, a gentlewoman. How many of us are teaching our children to be truly great? Succeeding of you and I, are we truly great?

been trying to induce ladies to buy the baking powder they have for sale and as an inducement are offering a cook book, egg beater or some other trinket with every can bought.

To our customers and friends we are offering our handsome cook book absolutely free.
If you are in need of one it will be unnecessary
for you to buy something you do not want.

Take advantage of this free offer.

Calumet Baking Powder is used by the house-
wife on account of its wonderful raising quality
—its never-failing results—its certainty of producing the most delicious and wholesome food.
When these things, and the fact that it is
moderate in price, are known, we know the users
of baking powder will always buy Calumet.

Send for the cook book today. Address
CALUMET BAKING POWDER CO., Chicago, Ill.

NOTE—Avoid the cheap and big can powders, for they are not of uniform strength and quality. Sometimes they leave the biscuits and pastry bleached and acid, sometimes yellow and alkaline, and often unpalatable.

PASSENGER AGENTS ON SPECIAL TRAIN

Northwestern Schedules Special Train of Eight Coaches to Transport Agents to Chicago.

Over three hundred traveling passenger agents passed through this city at an early hour this morning on a Northwestern special, being on their way to Chicago from St. Paul. The Northern Pacific railroad, some two weeks ago, extended an offer to every traveling passenger agent on any railroad system in the United States for a free trip through the Yellowstone Park, and it is estimated that the offer cost the system some thirty thousand dollars.

The agents were to meet at St. Paul and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul ran a special train from Chicago to accommodate the agents on their trip upwards. From St. Paul the Northern Pacific operated two special trains to the park and the agents were given a five-day trip through the Yellowstone. Railroad representatives from all sections of the country were on the trip and the agents in this city were high in their praise of their treatment.

C. A. Cairns, general passenger and ticket agent of the entire Northwestern system, was in Janesville yesterday afternoon and transacted business with the local representatives, returning to Chicago this morning on the traveling passenger agents' special train.

PLEAD NOT GUILTY TO SERIOUS CHARGE

Mrs. Martha Trijke and Joe Bowers Each Held on $250 Bail for Trial on Monday.

Mrs. Martha Trijke and Joe Bowers, arraigned before Judge Maxfield in municipal court this morning on a serious charge, plead not guilty and their trial was set for Monday morning at ten o'clock at the request of District Attorney Stanley Dunwiddie. In the meantime Bowers and the Trijke woman will be cared for in the county jail in default of payment of $250 apiece as bail.

Conviction will probably mean state's prison terms for the two as the district attorney announced his intention to incorporate a second offense clause in the complaint, the two having been sentenced in the municipal court for a similar offense.

Three were arraigned in court this morning on the charge of drunkenness. John Maxwell, a local repeater, drew the heaviest term and will serve a ninety day term under the provision of chapter 627 of the laws of 1913, requiring the sheriff to furnish employment. James Klugston,

It is one thing to make soda crackers that are occasionally good.

It is quite another thing to make them so that they are always better than all other soda crackers, always of unvarying goodness.

The name "Uneeda"—stamped on every biscuit—means that if a million packages of Uneeda Biscuit were placed before you, you could choose any one of them, confident that every soda cracker in that package would be as good as the best Uneeda Biscuit ever baked. Five cents.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

who came to this city from Cincinnati to work in the cannery factory, was fired $25 or thirty days, and James Murray, a laborer on the bridge construction work, was given a "light" fine of $15 or fifteen days, both under the employment act.

MOTHER! IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If cross, feverish, constipated, bilious, stomach sour, give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless and in a few hours all this constipation, poison, sour, bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sick-syrups.

Beware of counterfeit fig-syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!

FORTY YEARS AGO
Janesville Daily Gazette, Sept. 19, 1873.—Struck by Lightning—During the storm last night at about eleven o'clock the Morgan house was struck by lightning, causing some damage but hurting no one. The current was attracted by a ball and run down the flag pole to a tin roof of the cupola, thence down that and tore out some posts and smashed some windows. It was then conducted off a tin gutter and eaves trough. There were no persons on different portions of the house, at the time intended for the cupola was quite ready to be put up. Uncle "Billy" does not blame the lightning. A team belonging to Mr. F. S. Flager of the town of Janesville became frightened at noon today opposite the corn exchange and ran east two blocks, bringing up in the office of the Farmers' mill a few steps east of the bridge. Mr. Flager was considerably though not seriously bruised, and the team ditto. Mr.

Flager's wagon, and also the wagon of Mr. Thomas Austin, with which it came in collision, were badly broken. Some gentlemen who were quietly smoking in the mill office vacated in a hurry when the team appeared at the door.
W. A. Weber of Center has been sorely afflicted by the sudden death of his wife. Mrs. Weber left home on Tuesday of last week to visit on friends in Michigan, thinking that it would benefit her health. On the Friday following a telegram announced that she was seriously ill. Mr. Weber went immediately, only to find her in the sleep of death.
The annual meeting of the association of Patrons of Husbandry was held at the rooms of the Agricultural society in the court house on Tuesday. Officers for the coming year were elected and a committee of one from every grange was appointed to supervise the picnic that is to be held on the fair grounds Thursday.
